Innovation and Practice of the Script Murder Teaching Model in Ideological and Political Education in Colleges and Universities

Jingqi Zhou

Liaoning University of International Business and Economics School of Marxism, Dalian 116052, Liaoning, China

Abstract: Ideological and political education in colleges and universities is a vital part of college education and an important way to cultivate talents with comprehensive qualities, social responsibility and innovative spirit. However, the traditional ideological and political education model can no longer meet the needs of the current society. Therefore, ideological and political education in colleges and universities needs to be innovated and practiced. This paper aims to study the integration of Script Murder in ideological and political education in colleges and universities, focusing on the cultivation of students' self-awareness and critical thinking, focusing on the exploration of students' personality and interests, and focusing on the attention and solution of social problems.

Keywords: Ideological and Political Education in Colleges and Universities, Script Murder, Innovation, Practice.

1. Analysis of the Current Situation of Ideological and Political Education in Colleges and Universities

1.1 Challenges of Ideological and Political Education in Colleges and Universities at Present

With the development of society and the advancement of science and technology, ideological and political education in colleges and universities faces a series of new challenges. The following is an analysis of the main challenges facing ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

First, the diversification and personalization of college students' ideas and concepts make ideological and political education more complicated. With the advancement of globalization, college students have been exposed to a variety of ideas and concepts, and the diversification of these ideas has made ideological and political education more difficult. At the same time, the diversity of college students' personalities has also made ideological and political education more complicated. Traditional ideological and political education methods may not meet the needs of modern college students, so it is necessary to innovate ideological and political education methods.

Second, the popularity of the Internet and social media has exposed college students to more information, which has also brought new challenges to ideological and political education. The popularity of the Internet and social media has exposed college students to a variety of information, both good and bad, which has brought challenges to ideological and political education. In addition, the popularity of the Internet and social media has also made college students more susceptible to external influences, which has brought new challenges to ideological and political education.

Third, the development of social economy and the intensification of competition have brought more pressure and challenges to college students. With the development of social economy and the intensification of competition, college students are facing more pressure and challenges. These pressures and challenges may affect college students' ideas and behaviors, which has brought challenges to ideological and political education.

Finally, globalization and social change require ideological and political education to be more internationalized and socialized. Globalization and social change require ideological and political education to be more internationalized and socialized. This requires ideological and political education to have a global vision and social awareness, to focus on cross-cultural communication and exchanges, and to focus on solving social problems.

In summary, the current ideological and political education in colleges and universities faces a series of new challenges, including the diversification and personalization of college students' ideas, the popularity of the Internet and social media, the development of social economy and the intensification of competition, as well as globalization and social change. These challenges have put forward new requirements for ideological and political education, requiring us to continuously innovate ideological and political education methods to better meet the needs of modern college students.

1.2 Problems with Traditional Teaching Methods

The traditional ideological and political education and teaching model in colleges and universities mainly has the following problems:

1) Lack of interactivity and practicality: Traditional teaching models often adopt a single teaching method, and students passively accept knowledge, lacking interactivity and practicality. This teaching method is difficult to stimulate students' interest and enthusiasm in learning, and cannot truly cultivate students' ideological and political literacy and practical ability.

2) Lack of pertinence and effectiveness: Traditional teaching models often simply impart knowledge without targeted teaching based on students' actual conditions. This teaching method is difficult to truly solve students' problems and achieve the expected teaching results.

3) Lack of innovation and timeliness: Traditional teaching models often adopt traditional teaching methods and means, lacking innovation and timeliness. This teaching method is difficult to adapt to the development and changes of modern society, and cannot truly cultivate students' innovative thinking and practical ability.

4) Lack of diversity and personalization: Traditional teaching models often only focus on the imparting of knowledge, while ignoring students' individuality and diversified needs. This teaching method is difficult to meet the learning needs of different students, and cannot truly achieve personalized teaching.

In response to the above problems, the innovation and practice of the script murder teaching model of ideological and political education in colleges and universities came into being. This teaching model adopts the script murder method, integrates ideological and political education into the script murder game, enables students to learn ideological and political knowledge in practice, and enhances students' learning interest and enthusiasm. At the same time, the script murder teaching model also focuses on interactivity and practicality, which can stimulate students' learning interest and enthusiasm, and improve students' ideological and political literacy and practical ability. In addition, the script murder teaching model is also targeted and effective, which can truly solve students' problems and achieve the expected teaching effect. At the same time, the script murder teaching model is also innovative and contemporary, which can adapt to the development and changes of modern society and cultivate students' innovative thinking and practical ability. Finally, the script murder teaching model is also diversified and personalized, which can meet the learning needs of different students and realize personalized teaching.

In summary, the innovation and practice of the script murder teaching model of ideological and political education in colleges and universities can effectively solve the problems existing in the traditional teaching model, improve students' ideological and political literacy and practical ability, realize personalized teaching, and provide a more effective and efficient teaching method for ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

2. Innovation and Practice of Script Murder Teaching Model

2.1 Overview of the Script Murder Teaching Model

The script murder teaching model of ideological and political education in colleges and universities is an innovative teaching model. It combines the script murder game with ideological and political education. By simulating the script situation, students can deeply understand the content of ideological and political education in the game, and enhance the interest and interactivity of ideological and political education.

The basic concept of the script murder teaching model is that teachers write corresponding scripts according to teaching objectives and content, let students play different roles in the game, and achieve the purpose of ideological and political education through interaction, reasoning and problem solving. The characteristic of the script murder teaching model is that it combines the content of ideological and political education with games, and through simulating the game situation, students can deeply understand the content of ideological and political education in the game, and enhance the interest and interactivity of ideological and political education.

The basic concepts and characteristics of the Script Murder teaching model are as follows:

1) Basic Concepts of Script Murder Teaching Model

The Script Murder teaching model is a teaching model that combines ideological and political education content with games. It allows students to play different roles in the game by writing corresponding scripts, and achieves the purpose of ideological and political education through interaction, reasoning and problem solving. The basic concept of the Script Murder teaching model is that teachers write corresponding scripts according to teaching objectives and content, so that students can deeply understand the content of ideological and political education in the game, and enhance the fun and interactivity of ideological and political education.

2) Characteristics of the Script Murder teaching model

The characteristics of the Script Murder teaching model are that it combines ideological and political education content with games, and allows students to deeply understand the content of ideological and political education in the game by simulating game situations, and enhances the fun and interactivity of ideological and political education. The characteristics of the Script Murder teaching model also include that it can improve students' learning interest and participation, enhance students' thinking ability and creativity, and cultivate students' teamwork spirit and leadership ability.

In summary, the Script Murder teaching model of ideological and political education in colleges and universities is an innovative teaching model that combines ideological and political education content with games, and allows students to deeply understand the content of ideological and political education in the game by simulating game situations, and enhances the fun and interactivity of ideological and political education. The basic concept of the Script Murder teaching model is that teachers write corresponding scripts according to teaching objectives and content, let students play different roles in the game, and achieve the purpose of ideological and political education through interaction, reasoning and problem solving. The characteristics of the Script Murder teaching model include that it can improve students' learning interest and participation, enhance students' thinking ability and creativity, and cultivate students' teamwork spirit and leadership ability.

2.2 Application of Script Murder Teaching Model in Ideological and Political Education in Colleges and Universities

Ideological and political education in colleges and universities is an indispensable part of college education, and the traditional teaching model can no longer meet the new needs of modern society for ideological and political education. Therefore, the Script Murder teaching model, as a novel teaching method, has gradually been applied in ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

The application of the Script Murder teaching model in ideological and political education in colleges and universities is mainly reflected in the following aspects:

1) Improve students' participation and interest

Traditional ideological and political education is often considered boring, and students are prone to resistance. The Script Murder teaching model can integrate ideological and political education into interesting games, allowing students to naturally accept ideological and political education in the game. This teaching method can improve students' participation and interest, thereby improving the effect of ideological and political education.

2) Enhance students' interaction and cooperation ability

The Script Murder teaching model usually requires students to interact and cooperate, and this teaching method can enhance students' interaction and cooperation ability. In ideological and political education, students often need to cooperate with each other to complete some tasks, and the Script Murder teaching model can simulate this scenario, allowing students to exercise their cooperation ability in the game.

3) Improve students' innovative thinking and problem-solving abilities

The Script Murder teaching model requires students to innovate and think, thereby improving their innovative thinking and problem-solving abilities. In ideological and political education, students also need to think and analyze, and the Script Murder teaching model can provide a simulated scenario for students to exercise their thinking abilities in the game.

4) Promote students' self-cognition and reflection

The Script Murder teaching model can help students better understand themselves, thereby promoting students' self-cognition and reflection. In ideological and political education, students also need to reflect on their own behavior and thoughts, and the Script Murder teaching model can provide a simulated scenario for students to reflect on themselves in the game.

The application of the Script Murder teaching model in ideological and political education in colleges and universities can improve students' participation and interest, enhance students' interaction and cooperation abilities, improve students' innovative thinking and problem-solving abilities, and promote students' self-cognition and reflection. This teaching method can not only help students better accept ideological and political education, but also improve students' comprehensive quality.

2.3 Analysis of the Advantages and Effects of the Script Murder Teaching Model

The Script Murder teaching model of ideological and political education in colleges and universities is a new type of education method. Through simulating situations, students can deeply understand and master the knowledge and skills of ideological and political education in the process of participating in role-playing and interaction. In practice, this teaching model has shown many advantages and effects. For details, please refer to the following content.

One of the advantages of the Script Murder teaching model is that it can stimulate students' interest and participation. Compared with traditional teaching methods, the Script Murder teaching model is more interesting and interactive, which can attract students' attention and make them more actively participate in the learning process. At the same time, the Script Murder teaching model can also enable students to more deeply understand and master the knowledge and skills of ideological and political education in the process of participating in role-playing, thereby improving learning effects.

The Script Murder teaching model can also improve students' thinking ability and creativity. In the Script Murder game, students need to flexibly apply the knowledge and skills they have learned to solve problems and complete tasks according to the characteristics of the characters and the requirements of the situation. In this process, students need to constantly think and reason, thereby exercising their thinking ability and creativity.

The Script Murder teaching model can also promote students' teamwork and social skills. In the Script Murder game, students need to cooperate with each other and complete tasks together, thereby enhancing teamwork and social skills. In this process, students need to communicate and learn to listen to and understand the views and opinions of others, thereby improving their social skills.

The effect of the Script Murder teaching model in the ideological and political education of colleges and universities is also very significant. Through the Script Murder game, students can more deeply understand and master the knowledge and skills of ideological and political education, thereby improving learning effects. At the same time, the Script Murder teaching model can also stimulate students' interest and participation, improve students' thinking ability and creativity, and promote students' teamwork and social skills, so as to better achieve the goals of ideological and political education.

In summary, the Script Murder teaching model of ideological and political education in colleges and universities has many advantages and effects, which can stimulate students' interest and participation, improve students' thinking ability and creativity, and promote students' teamwork and social skills, so as to better achieve the goals of ideological and political education.

3. Summary and Outlook

3.1 Summary of the Innovation and Practical Results of the Script Murder Teaching Model in Ideological and Political Education in Colleges and Universities

The innovation and practice of the Script Murder teaching model for ideological and political education in colleges and universities aims to improve the quality of ideological and political education for college students through innovative teaching models. This teaching model is based on the Script Murder game and combines ideological and political education content to allow students to experience, understand, and receive ideological and political education in the game. The successful practice of this teaching model not only improves students' interest in learning and enhances students' awareness of participation, but also effectively promotes the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

In practice, we have found that the innovation and practice of the Script Murder teaching model in ideological and political education in colleges and universities has achieved remarkable results. First of all, this teaching model stimulates students' interest in learning. Traditional ideological and political education methods often make students feel boring and difficult to arouse students' interest. As an interesting teaching method, the Script Murder game can attract students' attention and stimulate their interest in learning. In practice, we found that students' interest in learning has been significantly improved.

Secondly, this teaching model enhances students' awareness of participation. The traditional ideological and political education method is often one-way indoctrination by teachers and passive acceptance by students. As a highly interactive teaching method, the Script Murder game can enhance students' awareness of participation and allow students to actively receive ideological and political education in the game. In practice, we found that students' active participation in the game enhanced their awareness of participation.

Finally, this teaching model effectively promotes the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities. Traditional ideological and political education methods are often difficult to meet the individual needs of students and the needs of social development. As a teaching method that can meet the individual needs of students, the Script Murder game can effectively promote the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities. In practice, we found that this teaching model has been widely used and effectively promoted the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

3.2 Challenges and Future Prospects

The innovation and practice of the Script Murder teaching model in college ideological and political education has achieved certain results in practice, but it also faces some challenges. The following is an analysis of the challenges and future prospects:

1) Insufficient teaching staff: The Script Murder teaching model of college ideological and political education requires experienced teachers to teach, but there are relatively few talents with relevant experience and skills in the current ideological and political education teaching team of colleges and universities, which limits the promotion and application of the teaching model.

2) Low student participation: Although the Script Murder teaching model of college ideological and political education is interesting and interactive, the student participation is still not high. Some students may think that this teaching method is too game-like and lacks practical significance, which affects their participation.

3) Insufficient teaching resources: The Script Murder teaching model of college ideological and political education requires relevant teaching resources, such as scripts, props, scenes, etc., but these resources are relatively scarce at present, which limits the promotion and application of the teaching model.

4. Future Outlook

1) Strengthen the construction of teaching staff: Colleges and universities should strengthen the training and cultivation of ideological and political education teachers, improve their teaching level and ability, and increase talents with relevant experience and skills. At the same time, colleges and universities can also improve the overall level of their teaching staff by introducing excellent teachers and experts.

2) Increase student participation: Colleges and universities should take measures to increase student participation in the Script Murder teaching model of ideological and political education. For example, students' interest and enthusiasm for participation can be stimulated by holding relevant competitions and activities. At the same time, colleges and universities can also help students better understand and accept this teaching method by strengthening their guidance and guidance.

3) Enrich teaching resources: Colleges and universities should strengthen the development and construction of resources related to the Script Murder teaching model of ideological and political education, such as scripts, props, scenes, etc. At the same time, universities can also cooperate with other institutions to jointly develop and build relevant teaching resources to meet teaching needs.

In general, the innovation and practical results of the Script Murder teaching model for ideological and political education in colleges and universities have been remarkable. This teaching model not only stimulates students' interest in learning and enhances students' awareness of participation, but also effectively promotes the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities. We expect that this teaching model can be more widely used in future educational practice and make greater contributions to the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

References

[1] Liu Yunyou. "Red Script Murder": Innovation and application of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities in the new era to carry out ideological and political education for college students [J]. University, 2023, (24): 14-17.

[2] Shen Xiaoyun. A preliminary study on integrating "Script Murder" into ideological and political education in colleges and universities from the perspective of youth subculture [J]. Science and Education Wenhui, 2022, (24): 34-37. DOI: 10.16871/j.cnki. kjwh. 2022. 24. 009.

[3] Fan Wenjie. Research on the integration of "Red Script Murder" into the practice of ideological and political education of college students [J]. Comparative Research on Cultural Innovation, 2024, 8(07): 101-104.

[4] Tang Tingting. The path of "Script Murder + Ideological and Political Education" from the perspective of ideological and political education [J]. Forestry Teaching, 2023, (03): 24-27.

[5] Yan Yuxuan, Fu Xiaonan, Li Yanze. Logical analysis of the integration of "Red Script Murder" into ideological and political education [J]. Middle School Political Teaching Reference, 2023, (03): 70-72.